NOTE

This publication contains current information on developments in the area concerned, and from area source media on developments in other areas, as reported from foreign broadcasts, news agency transmissions, newspapers, and periodicals. Items are processed from the first or best available source; it should not be inferred that they have been disseminated only in the medium, in the language, or to the area indicated. Items from foreign-language sources are translated by FBIS. Those from English-language sources are merely transcribed, with the original phrasing and other characteristics retained.

The labels "Text," "Excerpts," and "Summary," appearing in brackets "[]" on the first line of the body of an item denote treatment of the item by FBIS. Thus [Text] indicates the complete rendering of an item as presented by the source; [Excerpts] indicates the selection of textual portions; [Summary] indicates an abridged paraphrase but may include textual portions enclosed in quotation marks. A "Brief" is an abbreviated format which may be employed for the concise presentation of materials processed by any of the methods described above.

Headlines, bracketed words or notes, and editorial reports are composed by FBIS. Names rendered phonetically or in transliteration are enclosed in parentheses. Words or names preceded by a question mark and enclosed in parentheses were not clearly heard but have been supplied as appropriate to the context. Other unattributed parenthetical notes within the body of an item originate with the source. Ellipses or incomplete sentences originating with the source are indicated by a series of periods. Times within items are given by the source.

✓ When FBIS is cited, it should be in a manner clearly identifying it as the secondary source, that is, the primary source should be cited as well. For example: "FBIS reports that Radio Moscow announced . . ." or "FBIS has monitored a broadcast from Hanoi which says . . ." or "TASS, according to FBIS, on 20 April, reported that . . ."

Publication of an item in this report does not imply U.S. Government support for the opinion it expresses.
